III. GENERAL INFORMATION

- A. The director of the agency, authorized under Section 7502(e), prescribes the career development programs described herein for appointed local and county coordinators to develop key competencies in emergency management.
- B. Comprehensive emergency management involves an integrated all-hazards and all-risks approach to planning, response, recovery, and mitigation. The career development programs for the Pennsylvania emergency management community present similar material in classroom and self-study formats for both county and local coordinators and staff.
- C. The state training officer shall review and recommend program changes to the Director on an annual basis. Any questions or suggestions should be addressed through the appropriate area office to the state training officer.
- D. This directive is effective on the date of issue and applies to all newly recommended coordinators and staff. Certifications granted under previous directives will bear the same status as equivalent levels of certification under this directive. Individuals currently working toward the next higher certification level shall have 12 months from the date of this directive to complete their certification under existing criteria.
- E. The Training and Exercise Division shall certify the qualifications of all applicants for certification.
- F. Requirements established under federal grant guidance shall be separate and distinct from this certification program.

VI. CERTIFICATION COURSES

- A. Courses for the various certification levels come from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Independent Study (IS) program; the FEMA G-Series program (state delivery of FEMA programs); the PEMA developed curricula; and the Incident Command System (ICS) training programs, which are a combination of IS delivery and classroom delivery.
- B. Courses with the "IS" prefix are part of the FEMA Emergency Management Institute (EMI) Independent Study (IS) program. FEMA EMI and IS program courses can be found at www.fema.gov. The current course numbers are shown below. FEMA occasionally updates the IS program courses; when this occurs, the numbering scheme following the course name is also updated. Courses that have been updated are identifiable by the ".a, .b, (etc.)" at the end of the course number. It is conceivable that the alphanumeric appendage to the course number will progress alphabetically as FEMA updates the courses. All iterations will be accepted for certification (for example IS-100.a, ICS-100.b, IS-100.HC, IS-100.LE, etc.); however, other FEMA programs (i.e. the Master Exercise Practitioner Program) may require updated IS courses.
- C. Courses with the "G" prefix are FEMA programs delivered at the state level. In Pennsylvania, the courses are taught by PEMA approved instructors. The courses are available through the state approved educational training agencies (ETA).
- D. The following PEMA developed courses are available to support coordinator training. Courses may be online or obtained from PEMA area offices:
1. Comprehensive Planning Guide (CPG) 101
 2. Duties and Responsibilities
 3. Emergency Management for Elected Officials
 4. Initial Damage Reporting
 5. Radiation Protection Act: PA Act 147
 6. The Stafford Act
- E. Incident Command System (ICS) 300 - Intermediate ICS for Expanding Incidents, and ICS 400 - Advanced ICS courses are available from various sources, including the Pennsylvania State Fire Academy and local ETAs. Basic levels of ICS programs are available through FEMA IS or through the local ETA. Intermediate and Advanced ICS (ICS 300 and ICS 400) programs are available through federal, state, and local training institutions and are required to be classroom-based in order to be acceptable. For additional information on the availability of the ICS 300 or ICS 400 training programs, contact your jurisdiction's ETA.
