Civil Procedure

Amendment of pleadings
discretionary with court.....	151
reasoning to allow	151
joinder of additional parties.....	151
mandatory at any stage absent violation of law or unfair prejudice	232
prejudice bars allowance	151, 232 amendment after close of testimony and where defendant did not contemplate the subject matter of the amendment in preparation and trial of the case would be prejudicial	232
defined	151
delay and expense, absent more, are not prejudicial	151
detriment to opposing party, absent more, is not prejudice	232 unfair surprise not found if an amendment was implicit in the development of the evidence from early in the trial and the opponent never objected.....	232 time limit; no time limit; however, amendment to conform pleadings to proof not allowed after statute of limitations has run and amendment would introduce a new cause of action.....	232
timeliness is an issue	151
Complaint
must do more than give defendant fair notice of what the claim is and the grounds upon which it rests	236

should formulate the issues by fully summarizing the material facts	236
